

28
ABSTRACT

A process for preparing a herbal extract including the steps of mixing herbal matter with water to produce an aqueous extract solution, adding a nutritive supplement capable of supporting bacterial fermentation to the solution, seeding the resulting mixture with probiotic bacteria, and incubating the seeded mixture to effect fermentation of the herbal matter.